Dr. Anjum & Katie Alvis

Why is dental care so important? Oral health affects your whole body. It begins with the mouth, teeth and orofacial structures enabling you to eat and speak. It also helps to avoid oral diseases and improve your quality of life.

Oral health also includes psychosocial dimensions such as self-confidence, well-being, and the ability to socialize and work without pain, discomfort, and embarrassment. Periodontal (gum) disease, tooth loss, oral cancer, and oro-dental trauma are among the many oral diseases and conditions that can affect overall health.

Even if you have never been to a dentist or it has been a while, consider the GoochlandCares dental clinic as a resource for your oral health care.

The GoochlandCares Dental Clinic is available by appointment during the week for dental visits. Monday-Thursday, 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.; and select Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Please call the Dental Clinic at 804-556-0302 to confirm eligibility and to schedule an appointment.
